The Novre Vremya, discussing the subject, contends that so long as the present Jewish laws are in force in the empire it is impossible to grant foreign Jews greater privileges than are granted to native Jews. New York, Dec. 5 .- The first serious accident in the six-day bloycle race at Madison Square Garden, occurred early today, when Patrick Keegan, the Lowell, Mass., boy, was so badly hurt that he was forced to "leave the track. Whether his injuries will retire him permanently from the race could not be determined. While the men were engaging in a heart-breaking sprinting match Rocko-witz suddenly went down and Agraz, one of the Australian-American team, who was following close behind, crashed into him. Just as both riders start-ed to slide down the embankment Keegan came around at a terrific burst of speed. His wheel struck Rockowitz and Agraz with terrible force. Keegan struck on his face on the board track. He was a pitable sight. His face was covered with blood, which flowed from his nose and a deep cut across his fore-head, and his nose was broken.

One team had been practically ridden out of the race before the Keegan accident happened. A long, hard sprint, led by the French team, which continued for nearly an hour, ended in the King-Rossino team losing three laps, As the bunch of riders passed him for the third time King steered down from the track to the enclosure and with the remark, "that's enough for me," declared that he was out of the race for
